Personligt brev

Hello,

My name is Victor Stommendal, and I am very interested in becoming part of your team. I have recently started my studies at Chalmers University of Technology in the Master's Programme in Global Systems.

I consider myself a positive and cheerful person who always has a smile on his face. I am goal-oriented, responsible, solution-focused, and driven. With careful planning, I always keep everything organized. My closest friends describe me as genuinely kind, caring, responsible, ambitious, helpful, orderly, reliable, and loyal. These qualities are an integral part of my personality.

My outgoing nature makes it easy for me to connect with new people, and I enjoy being part of a team. My high level of ambition drives everything I do, whether it is schoolwork or other activities. In group projects, I often take on the organizational responsibility, ensuring everything is completed correctly and on time.

My free time is filled with various interests: skiing, traveling, going to the gym, playing squash, spending time with my friends and family, fishing, and boating. I prioritize regular exercise to stay fit and promote my well-being. I believe that physical activity is crucial for maintaining good health and balance in life.

In group projects at Chalmers, I take responsibility for creating a project plan and tracking deadlines, ensuring that the team delivers on time with high quality.

Having the opportunity to work with you would be an exciting and educational experience for me. I look forward to further developing my skills and contributing to your team. I hope to have the chance to tell you more about myself in an interview.

Why Am I an Asset to Your Team?

My high level of ambition and dedication to what I do makes me a driving force. I am convinced that my care and helpfulness would contribute to a positive work environment. My strive for order and organization, combined with my ability to collaborate and meet deadlines, would contribute to a smooth and efficient work process. With my outgoing personality, I can also build strong relationships with colleagues and customers.

Best Regards,

Victor Stommendal
